

And The NSW P&C Volunteer of the Year 2019 Is...

This last Friday night, on 28 February 2020, the Federation of Parents & Citizens Associations of NSW held its annual NSW P&C Volunteer of the Year award. This award recognises those volunteers who have gone above and beyond in supporting their school community, and whose work has made a real difference for the students in their schools.

This year's winner was announced at a dinner held at the prestigious L'Aqua venue overlooking Sydney's Darling Harbour where the finalists from across NSW had their efforts acknowledged and celebrated. Speakers at the dinner included Anna Longley, Assistant Commissioner, General Counsel of the Australian Charities and Not-for-profits Commission, and Warwick Ryan from Hickson's Lawyers.

The highlight of the night came when Ingrid Waite from Castle Hill High School was announced as the 2019 NSW P&C Volunteer of the Year. This award is a testament to Ms Waite's commitment to her school community, and we congratulate her on this outstanding achievement. We also congratulate all the other finalists for their exceptional dedication and effort in their volunteer work.

We thank the P&C Associations who sent through their nominations, and the judges who had the difficult task of choosing a handful of finalists and an ultimate winner out of the many outstanding nominations.

Our thanks to the Award Dinner's sponsors at Commonwealth Bank for making this night possible.
